Thank you, Jenni, for the update. I will make the changes and draft a clean copy for one last look. At the appropriate time, I'll send to the Prosecutor's Office for approve as to form.

I received your other communication and of the two Commissioners which have responded there is no issue proceeding.

I will report back when the third Commissioners replies, but let's keep things progressing.

Good morning! I have no problems with your redline version and the addition of special projects. I will definitely let you know if I am able to give you any time during August.

Take care!

Jenni,

First, congratulations. I'm sure you feel so relieved and can finally exhale.

Please find attached my minor redline changes; probably the most substantive is your consideration to include special projects into the scope of services.

I completely understand and appreciate your need to decompress. If there are any days you can give me before September 1st, I would be hugely appreciative.

Let me know if the revisions are acceptable. One disclaimer, my redline document does not reflect review or any modifications required by the Prosecutor's Office. I just wanted to let you know the legalese may change.

Hi Judi! I am going to take the month of August to travel, and heal a little quite honestly. I will be ready to start at the beginning of September. If you need to discuss/meet for pre-planning during August I could make that happen.

Jenni,

Thank you for your continued considerations.

What would be your start date again?

I'll review it quickly and reply by end of week hopefully.
